NORODOM SIHANOUK

PREAMBLE

WE, THE KHMER PEOPLE,

Having had a great civilization, a prosperous and glorious Nation extending over a vast territory, a prestige glittering like a diamond;

Having fallen into a terrifying abyss for the two last decades when we have been undergoing terrible sufferings and demeaning sufferings and disasters of the most regrettable way;

In a burst of consciousness, rising up with a resolute determination in order to unite, to strengthen the national unity, to defend the Cambodian territory, to preserve the precious sovereignty and the marvelous civilization of ANGKOR, to rebuild the Nation to become once again an “Oasis of Peace” based on the system of a liberal multi-party democracy, to guarantee human rights, to ensure the respect of law, to be highly responsible for the destiny of the Nation forever evolving toward progress, development and prosperity.

MOTIVATED BY THIS UNSHAKEABLE WILL,

We inscribe in the Constitution of the Kingdom of Cambodia, as follows:

CHAPTER I

ON THE SOVEREIGNTY

Article 1.

Cambodia is a Kingdom where the King shall fulfill His functions according to the Constitution and the principles of liberal multi-party democracy.

The Kingdom of Cambodia is an independent, sovereign, peaceful, permanently neutral and non-aligned State.

Article 2.

The territorial integrity of the Kingdom of Cambodia shall be absolutely inviolable within its borders as defined in the 1/100,000 scale map made between the years 1933-1953, and internationally recognized between the years 1963 - 1969.

CHAPTER VII

ON THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY

Article 76 new

The National Assembly shall comprise at least 120 members.

The Members of the National Assembly shall be elected by a universal, free, equal, direct suffrage and secret ballot.

The National Assembly's Members are re-eligible.

Khmer citizens of both sexes, enjoying the right to vote, aged at least 25 years and having Khmer nationality by birth, have the right to be candidates to the National Assembly.

The modalities and functioning of the elections shall be determined by the electoral law.

Article 77.

The Members of the National Assembly are the representatives of the whole Khmer Nation and not of the only citizens from their constituencies.

Any imperative mandate shall be considered as null.

Article 78.

The legislature of the National Assembly is of 5 years and shall terminate on the day of the new National Assembly entering in function. The National Assembly cannot be dissolved before the end of its mandate, except in the case when the Royal Government has been voted out twice within a period of 12 months.

In this case, the King shall, on the proposal from the Prime Minister and with the approval of the President of the National Assembly, dissolve the National Assembly.

The election of the new National Assembly shall take place at the latest within 60 days, counting from the date of dissolution of the National Assembly.

During this period, the Royal Government is only in charge of the day-to-day affairs.

In time of war or in other exceptional circumstances when it is impossible to organize the elections, the National Assembly may, on the proposal from the King, declare the prorogation of its mandate for one year each time.

The declaration on the extension of the National Assembly's mandate must be adopted by at least two-third of all its Members.

Article 79.

The mandate of the Member of the National Assembly is incompatible with the active functions in the civil service and with the functions as member of any other institution stipulated in the Constitution, except those exercised in the Council of Ministers of the Royal Government.

In this case, the concerned Member of the National Assembly keeps the quality as an ordinary Member of the National Assembly, but he/she must have no position in the Standing Committee and in the different Commissions of the National Assembly.

Article 80.

Members of the National Assembly shall enjoy parliamentary immunity.

No National Assembly's Member can in any case be prosecuted, arrested, kept in police custody or detained because of his/her opinions or views expressed during the exercise of his/her functions.

The prosecution against, the arrest, the police custody or the detention of any Member of the National Assembly is possible only when approved by the National Assembly or by the Standing Committee during the interval between sessions, except in flagrante delicto case. In this last case, the competent ministry must urgently report to the National Assembly or to the Standing Committee for decision.

The decision of the National Assembly's Standing Committee must be submitted to the next session of the National Assembly for adoption by two-third majority of all its Members.

In all the aforementioned cases, the detention of, the prosecution against any National Assembly's Member shall be suspended, if the National Assembly so decided by three-fourth majority of all its Members.

Article 81.

The National Assembly shall have an autonomous budget for its functioning.

The National Assembly's Members shall receive allowances.

Article 82 new (one)

The first session of the National Assembly shall open sixty days at the latest after the elections, upon convocation by the King.

Before starting its works, the National Assembly shall declare the validity of each Member's mandate and shall vote separately to elect its President, its Vice-Presidents and all the Members of its various Commissions, by an absolute majority of all its Members.

The President of the National Assembly is elected from among its members and shall have only one Khmer nationality.

The National Assembly shall adopt its Rules of Procedure by an absolute majority of all its Members.

Before taking office, all the National Assembly's Members shall take the oath according to the text written in Annex 5 of the Constitution.

Article 83.

The National Assembly shall convene in ordinary session twice a year.

Each session shall last at least three months. Upon the request from the King or upon the proposal of the Prime Minister or of at least one-third of the National Assembly's Members, the Standing Committee of the National Assembly shall convene an extraordinary session of the National Assembly.

In this case, the precise agenda of the extraordinary session and the date of this session must be brought to the knowledge of the people.

Article 84.

During the interval between the Sessions of the National Assembly, its Standing Committee shall be in charge of the functioning of the National Assembly.

The Standing Committee shall be composed of the President of the National Assembly, the Vice-Presidents of the National Assembly, and the Presidents of all the Commissions of the National Assembly.

Article 85.

The meetings of the National Assembly shall take place in the Capital City of the Kingdom of Cambodia, at the National Assembly Meeting Hall, except a decision otherwise specified in the convocation letter for circumstantial reasons.

Apart from the aforementioned cases and apart from the location and the date specified in the convocation letter, any other meetings of the National Assembly shall be considered illegal and null in its own full right.

Article 86.

Under the circumstances when the nation is in a state of emergency, the National Assembly shall convene every day, in permanence. The National Assembly has the right to put an end to the aforementioned special circumstances, whenever the situation permits.

If the National Assembly cannot convene for imperative reasons, notably in case of territorial occupation by foreign forces, the declaration of the state of emergency must be automatically extended.

During the period when the nation is in a state of emergency, the National Assembly cannot in any case be dissolved.

Article 87.

The President of the National Assembly presides over the National Assembly sessions, takes cognizance of the laws and the resolutions adopted by the National Assembly, ensures the implementation of the Rules of Procedure and organizes the international relations of the National Assembly.

In case the President of the National Assembly is prevented from performing his/her duties for health reason, or for assuming his/her functions as Head of State ad interim or as Regent, or for being on mission abroad, a Vice-President shall replace him/her.

In case of resignation or decease of the President or of the Vice-Presidents, the National Assembly shall elect a new President or new Vice-Presidents.

Article 88 new (two)

The National Assembly sessions shall be public.

The National Assembly can convene in camera at the request of the President or of at least one-tenth of its Members, of the King or of the Prime Minister.

The session of the National Assembly is only valid, when there is:

- a- the quorum of over two-third of all its Members for the votes requiring the majority of two-third of all its Members.
- b- the quorum of over half of all its Members for the votes requiring the absolute majority of all its Members.

Article 89 new

At the request of at least one-tenth of its Members, the National Assembly can invite one or more government members accompanied by expert personalities from any field to clarify to the National Assembly on an issue of particular importance.

Article 90 new (two)

The National Assembly is an organ vested with legislative power which exercises its functions according to the provisions of the Constitution and the laws in force.

The National Assembly votes on the national budget, the State planning, the State borrowings and lending, the various pledges of financial warranties, and the creation, modification or abolition of taxes.

The National Assembly approves the administrative account.

The National Assembly votes the amnesty law.

The National Assembly votes the approval or the abrogation of international treaties or conventions.

The National Assembly votes the law on war declaration.

The aforementioned votes must be approved by an absolute majority of all the National Assembly's Members.

The National Assembly grants a vote of confidence to the Royal Government at the absolute majority of all its Members.

Article 91 new

The Senators, the National Assembly's Members and the Prime Minister have the initiative of laws.

The National Assembly's Members have the right to propose amendments to the laws, but this proposal is not acceptable if those amendments aim to reduce public incomes or to increase the burden on the citizens.

Article 92.

Any adoption by the National Assembly contrary to the principles of safeguarding the independence, the sovereignty, the territorial integrity of the Kingdom of Cambodia, and affecting the political unity or the administrative management of the nation, must be considered null and void. The Constitutional Council is the sole organ competent to pronounce this nullity.

Article 93 new

The law adopted by the National Assembly and definitively reviewed by the Senate, and promulgated by the King, shall come into force in the capital city of Phnom Penh within ten clear days counting from the date of promulgation, and throughout the country within twenty clear days counting from the date of promulgation. However, if the law is declared urgent, it shall come immediately into force on the whole territory of the country as counting from the date of promulgation.

The law signed and promulgated by the King shall be published in the Royal Gazette and shall be circulated on the whole territory of the country in the time limit as set above.

Article 94.

The National Assembly creates various necessary commissions. The organization and the functioning of the National Assembly shall be stipulated in the National Assembly's Rules of Procedure.

Article 95.

In case of decease, resignation or loss of membership of a National Assembly's Member, which could happen at least six months before the end of the mandate, the replacement must proceed in the conditions set by the National Assembly's Rules of Procedure and by the Electoral Law.

Article 96.

The National Assembly's Members have the right to raise questions to the Royal Government. The questions must be put in writing and transmitted through the President of the National Assembly.

The answers shall be given by one or several ministers depending on whether the raised issue comes under the responsibility of one or several ministers. If the issue concerns the general policy of the Royal Government, the Prime Minister shall reply in person.

The answers by the minister or by the Prime Minister may be in a verbal or written form.

The above answers shall be given within seven days after receiving the questions.

In case of verbal answer, the President of the National Assembly can decide whether to open the debate or not. If he does not authorize the debate, the answers of the minister or the Prime Minister put an end to the raised questions.

If he authorizes the opening of a debate, the authors of the questions, the other orators, the concerned minister or the Prime Minister can discuss and exchange the points of view within a time-frame that cannot exceed one meeting.

The National Assembly shall reserve one day a week for questions time.

The meetings reserved for the questions and answers cannot in any case be open to any vote.

Article 97.

The Commissions of the National Assembly can invite ministers to give clarifications on issue relating to their responsibility.

Article 98 new (one)

The National Assembly can dismiss a Member of the Royal Government or overthrow the Royal Government by voting a motion of censure at the absolute majority of all its members. In case the Royal Government is overthrown by the National Assembly, the outgoing Royal Government shall only have the duty to lead daily work until a new government comes into office.

The motion of censure against the Royal Government must be submitted to the National Assembly by one-third of all its members before the motion of censure can be examined.

CHAPTER VIII NEW

ON THE SENATE

Article 99 new

The Senate is an organ vested with legislative power which exercises its functions according to the provisions of the Constitution and the laws in force.

The number of the Senators must not exceed half of the total number of the National Assembly's Members.

The Senate is composed of appointed members and members elected at restricted suffrage.

The Senators can be appointed a new or re-eligible. Can be candidates to the Senate, Khmer citizens of both sexes enjoying the right to vote, aged 40 years at least and having Khmer nationality by birth.

Article 100 new

Two Senators are appointed by the King.

Two Senators are elected by the National Assembly at a relative majority vote.

The other Senators are elected at a restricted suffrage.

Article 101 new

The modalities of the organization and the functioning of the appointment and the elections of the Senators as well as the determination of the voters, the electoral colleges and the electoral constituencies must be determined by a law.

Article 102 new

The mandate of the Senate is 6 years and shall terminate on the day the new Senate enters in function.

In time of war or in other exceptional circumstances, when it is impossible to organize the elections, the Senate may, on the proposal of the King, declare the prorogation of its mandate for one year each time.

The declaration of prorogation of the Senate's mandate must be adopted by at least two-thirds of all the Senators.

Under the aforementioned circumstances, the Senate shall convene every day, in permanence. The Senate has the right to put an end to the aforementioned special circumstances, whenever the situation permits. But, the decision to put an end to the special circumstances when the country is in a state of emergency, must be taken jointly by the Senate and the National Assembly during a Congress of the National Assembly and the Senate except the application of article 86 of the Constitution.

If the Senate cannot convene for imperative reasons, notably in case of territorial occupation by foreign forces, the declaration of the state of emergency must be automatically extended.

Article 103 new

The Senator's mandate is incompatible with actively exercising any public function, with the functions as the National Assembly's Member and with those as member of another institution stipulated in the Constitution.

Article 104 new

The Senators shall enjoy parliamentary immunity.

No Senator can in any case be prosecuted, arrested, kept in police custody or detained because of his/her opinions or of the votes expressed during the exercise of his/her functions. The prosecution against, the arrest, the police custody or the detention of a Senator is possible only when approved by the Senate or by the Standing Committee during the interval between sessions, except in flagrante delicto case. In this last case, the competent ministry must urgently report to the Senate or to the Standing Committee for decision.

The decision of the Senate's Standing Committee must be submitted to the next session of the Senate for adoption by two-third majority of all the Senators.

In all the aforementioned cases, the detention of, the prosecution against any Senator shall be suspended, if the Senate so decides by three-fourth majority of all the Senators.

Article 105 new

The Senate shall have an autonomous budget for its functioning.

The Senators shall receive allowances.

Article 106 new (two)

The first session of the Senate shall open sixty days at the latest after the elections, upon convocation by the King.

Before starting its works, the Senate shall declare the validity of each Senator's mandate and shall vote separately to elect its President, its Vice-Presidents and all the Members of its various Commissions, by an absolute majority of all the Senators.

The President of the Senate is elected from among its members and shall have only one Cambodian nationality.

Before taking office, all the Senators shall take the oath according to the text written in Annex 7 of the Constitution.

Article 107 new

The Senate shall convene in ordinary sessions twice a year.

Each Session shall last at least three months. Upon the request from the King or upon the proposal of the Prime Minister or of at least one-third of the Senators, the Senate shall convene in an extraordinary meeting.

Article 108 new

During the interval between the Sessions of the Senate, its Standing Committee shall be in charge of the functioning of the Senate.

The Standing Committee shall be composed of the President of the Senate, the Vice-Presidents of the Senate and the Presidents of all the Commissions of the Senate.

Article 109 new

The sessions of the Senate shall take place in the Capital City of the Kingdom of Cambodia, at the Senate Meeting Hall, except a decision otherwise specified in the convening act for circumstantial reasons.

Apart from the aforementioned cases and apart from the location and the date specified in the convening act, any session of the Senate shall be considered illegal and null in its own full right.

Article 110 new

The President of the Senate presides over the Senate sessions, takes cognizance of the laws and the resolutions adopted by the Senate, ensures the implementation of the Rules of Procedure and organizes the international relations of the Senate.

In case the President of the Senate is prevented from performing his/her duties for health reason, or for assuming his/her functions as Head of State ad interim or as Regent, or for being on mission abroad, a Vice-President shall replace him/her.

In case of resignation or decease of the President or of the Vice-Presidents, the Senate shall elect a new President or new Vice-Presidents.

Article 111 new (two)

The Senate sessions shall be public.

The Senate can convene in camera at the request of the President or of at least one-tenth of its Members, at the request of the King, of the Prime Minister or of the President of the National Assembly.

The session of the Senate is only valid, when there is:

a- the quorum of over two-third of all its Members for the votes requiring the majority of two-third of all its Members.

b-the quorum of over half of all its Members for the votes requiring the relative or absolute majority of all its Members.

The number of votes required for the adoption by the National Assembly, as provided in this Constitution, shall also apply to the adoption by the Senate.

Article 112 new

The Senate has duty to coordinate the work between the National Assembly and the Government.

Article 113 new

The Senate shall examine and give its views on draft law or on proposed law adopted by the National Assembly in its first reading, as well as all the questions submitted by the National Assembly, within a period not exceeding one month. In case of urgency, this time frame shall be reduced to five days.

If the Senate gives a favorable view, or gives no view, within the provided time limits, the law already adopted by the National Assembly will be submitted for promulgation.

If the Senate proposes amendments to these draft laws or these proposed laws, the National Assembly shall immediately examine them in a second reading. The National Assembly shall decide on the sole amendments proposed by the Senate, either by accepting or rejecting them, in totality or in part.

A shuttle between the Senate and the National Assembly shall proceed within a limited time frame of one month. This time frame shall be reduced to ten days for the budgetary texts and the laws on finances, and to two days in case of urgency declaration.

If the National Assembly exceeds or extends the time frame at its disposal for examination, the time frame by principle allocated for agreement between the two Chambers is increased as much.

In case the Senate purely and simply rejects them, the draft laws or the proposed laws cannot be examined by the National Assembly in a second reading, before a time frame of one month. This time frame is reduced to fifteen days for budgetary texts and the laws on finances, and to four days in case of urgency declaration.

When examining the draft laws or the proposed laws in a second reading, the National Assembly shall adopt them by open ballot and at the absolute majority of all its Members.

The draft laws or the proposed laws, once adopted according to aforementioned modalities, are submitted for promulgation.

Article 114 new (one)

The Senate creates various necessary commissions. The organization and the functioning of the Senate shall be stipulated in the Senate's Rules of Procedure. These Rules of Procedure are adopted by an absolute majority of all its Members.

Article 115 new

In case of decease, resignation or loss of membership of a Senator, which could happen at least six months before the end of the mandate, the replacement must proceed in the conditions set by the Senate's Rules of Procedure and by the law pertaining to the appointment and the elections of the Senators.

CHAPTER IX NEW
ON THE CONGRESS OF THE NATIONAL ASSEMBLY
AND THE SENATE

Article 116 new

In case of necessity, the National Assembly and the Senate can convene in Congress to resolve the important issues of the country.

Article 117 new

The important issues of the country as provided in the above-mentioned Article 116 new, as well as the organization and functioning of the Congress shall be determined by a law.

CHAPTER X NEW

ON THE ROYAL GOVERNMENT

Article 118 new (one)

The Council of Ministers is the Royal Government of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

The Council of Ministers shall be headed by a Prime Minister, assisted by Deputy Prime Ministers as well by Senior Ministers and Ministers as members.

Article 119 new (two)

On the proposal of the party with the most seats in the National Assembly, the King appoints a high-ranking personality as Prime Minister to form the Royal Government. This proposal from the party with the most seats in the National Assembly must be copied to the President of the National Assembly. The high-ranking personality appointed as Prime Minister must be a Member of the National Assembly holding only one Khmer nationality and be chosen from the party with the most seats in the National Assembly. This assigned high-ranking personality, accompanied by his collaborators who are Members of the National Assembly or Members of the parties represented at the National Assembly and who are in charge of ministerial functions within the Royal Government, solicits the confidence from the National Assembly. The vote of confidence must be done to the list of composition of the Council of Ministers. Once the National Assembly has voted the confidence, the King signs a Royal Decree appointing the whole Council of Ministers.

Before taking office, the Council of Ministers shall take the oath according to the text written in Annex 6.

At the end of each legislature of the National Assembly, the outgoing Royal Government has only duty on daily work until a new Royal Government takes office.

Article 120 new (former Article 101)

The function of Member of the Royal Government is incompatible with any professional activity in the field of trade or industry and with the holding of any position in the civil service.

Article 121 new (former Article 102)

All the Members of the Royal Government are collectively responsible to the National Assembly for the general policy of the Royal Government.

Each Member of the Royal Government is individually responsible to the Prime Minister and to the National Assembly for his/her own actions.

Article 122 new (former Article 103)

The Members of the Royal Government cannot resort to a written or verbal order from whomever to decline their own responsibility.

Article 123 new (former Article 104)

The Council of Ministers shall convene every week in plenary session or in working session.

The plenary session is chaired by the Prime Minister. The Prime Minister can delegate to a Deputy Prime Minister the chairmanship of the working sessions.

All the minutes of the Council of Ministers' sessions shall be submitted to the King for His highest Information.

Article 124 new (former Article 105)

The Prime Minister can delegate his/her powers to a Deputy Prime Minister or to a Member of the Royal Government.

Article 125 new (one)

In case of a temporary absence of the Prime Minister, the Prime Minister shall assign one Deputy Prime Minister to be an Acting Prime Minister to temporarily lead the Council of Ministers.

In case of definitive vacancy in the post of Prime Minister, notably due to decease or resignation, a new Council of Ministers must be immediately appointed in accordance with the conditions stipulated in this Constitution. The president of the National Assembly must immediately call for a National Assembly meeting and take other necessary measures within seven days at the latest after receiving a proposal from the party having the majority of the seats in the National Assembly.

In case of definitive vacancy in the post of Prime Minister, due to decease or resignation, the outgoing Council of Ministers, under the leadership of a Deputy Prime Minister who was assigned as Acting Prime Minister has only the duty of the daily work until a new Council of Ministers takes office.

The letter of resignation from the post of Prime Minister must be sent to the King, and copied for the President of the National Assembly. In this case, the outgoing Council of Ministers must continue to conduct the work of the Royal Government until the new Council of Ministers takes office.

Article 126 new (former Article 107)

Members of the Royal Government hold penal responsibility for the major or minor offences while performing their functions.

In this case and in the case of serious misdeeds committed by a Member of Royal Government while performing his/her functions, the National Assembly can decide to seize the competent jurisdictions.

The National Assembly shall decide on such matter in a secret ballot by an absolute majority of all its Members.

Article 127 new (former Article 108)

The organization and functioning of the Council of Ministers are stipulated by a law.

CHAPTER XI NEW ON THE JUDICIARY

Article 128 new (former Article 109)

The Judicial power is an independent power.

The Judicial power is the guarantor of impartiality and the protector of the citizens' rights and liberties.

The Judicial power covers all litigations, including administrative litigation.

This power is entrusted to the Supreme Court and to the Jurisdictions of the various categories and at all the degrees.

Article 129 new (former Article 110)

Justice is rendered in the name of Khmer people in accordance with the legal procedures and the laws in force.

Only the judges are vested with the judicial function. The judges shall fulfill their duties in strict respect of the law, in all honesty and conscientiousness.

Article 130 new (former Article 111)

No organ of the Legislative Power or of the Executive Power can exercise any judicial power.

Article 131 new (former Article 112)

Only the public prosecution has the right to take public action.

Article 132 new (former Article 113)

The King is the Guarantor of the independence of the Judiciary. The Supreme Council of Magistracy assists the King in this task.

Article 133 new (former Article 114)

The Magistrates are irremovable. However, the Supreme Council of Magistracy shall pronounce disciplinary sanctions against the Magistrates committing misdeeds.

Article 134 new (former Article 115)

The Supreme Council of Magistracy shall be created by an Organic Law which determines its composition and attributions.

The Supreme Council of Magistracy is placed under the Presidency of the King. The King can designate His Representative to preside over the Supreme Council of Magistracy.

The Supreme Council of Magistracy submits to the King the proposal for appointment of judges and public prosecutors to all the Jurisdictions.

To decide disciplinary sanctions against the judges and the public prosecutors, the Supreme Council of Magistracy convenes under the presidency of the Supreme Court's President or of the General Public Prosecutor to the Supreme Court, whether the case relates to the judges or the public prosecutors.

Article 135 new (former Article 116)

The statutes of judges and public prosecutors and the judicial organization shall be stipulated in separate laws.

CHAPTER XII NEW

ON THE CONSTITUTIONAL COUNCIL

Article 136 new

The Constitutional Council shall have the competence to guarantee the respect of the Constitution, to interpret the Constitution and the laws adopted by the National Assembly and definitively reviewed by the Senate.

The Constitutional Council has the right to examine and to decide on litigations related to the elections of the Members of the National Assembly and to the elections of the Senators.

Article 137 new (one)

The Constitutional Council is composed of nine Members whose mandate is limited to nine years. One-third of its Members shall be renewed every three years. Three Members shall be appointed by the King, three elected by the National Assembly and three others elected by the Supreme Council of Magistracy.

The President is elected by the Members of the Constitutional Council, from among the members and shall have only one Khmer nationality by birth. In case of a tie in the voting, the voice of the President prevails.

Article 138 new (former Article 119)

The Members of the Constitutional Council shall be chosen among the high ranking personalities holding high diplomas in law, in administration, in diplomacy or in economics and having extensive professional experience.

Article 139 new

The functions as member of the Constitutional Council are incompatible with the functions as senator, as member of the National Assembly, as member of the Royal Government, as incumbent magistrate, as personnel in the civil service, as President or Vice-President of a political party or as President or Vice-President of a trade union.

Article 140 new

The King, the Prime Minister, the President of the National Assembly or one-tenth of the National Assembly's Members, the President of the Senate or one-fourth of the Senators, may send the laws adopted by the National Assembly to the Constitutional Council for examination before their promulgation.

The rules of procedure of the National Assembly, the rules of procedure of the Senate and the organic laws must be sent to the Constitutional Council for examination before their promulgation. The Constitutional Council shall decide within the time frame of thirty (30) days at the latest, whether the laws, the rules of procedure of the National Assembly and those of the Senate are or not in conformity with the Constitution.

Article 141 new

After a law has been promulgated, the King, the President of the Senate, the President of the National Assembly, the Prime Minister, one-fourth of the Senators, one-tenth of the National Assembly's Members, or the Courts can request the Constitutional Council to examine the constitutionality of that law.

Any citizen has the right to contest about the constitutionality of the laws through the intermediary of the National Assembly's Members or that of the President of the National Assembly or of the Senators or of the President of the Senate, as provided in the aforementioned paragraph.

Article 142 new (former Article 123)

A provision of any article, declared by the Constitutional Council not in conformity with the Constitution, cannot be promulgated or implemented.

The decision of the Constitutional Council is final without recourse.

Article 143 new (former Article 124)

The King consults the Constitutional Council on any proposed amendment of the Constitution.

Article 144 new (former Article 125)

The organization and the functioning of the Constitutional Council are subject to an organic law.

CHAPTER XIII NEW
ON THE ADMINISTRATIVE ORGANIZATION

Article 145 new (one)

The territory of the Kingdom of Cambodia is divided into capital city (Reach Theany), provinces (Khet), municipalities (Krong), districts (Srok), arrondissements (Khan), communes (Khum), Sangkat (quarters).

Article 146 new (one)

The National Congress shall proceed under the High Presidency of the King.

Article 149 new

The National Congress shall adopt suggestions to be submitted to the Senate, the National Assembly and the State authorities for consideration.

The organization and the functioning of the National Congress shall be stipulated by a law.

-----END-----

CHAPTER XV NEW (TWO)

ON THE ELECTION BODY

Article 150 new (two)

The National Election Committee is the body which has the competence for organizing, regulating and administering the elections of the Senators and the elections of the Members of the National Assembly and other elections as determined by law.

The National Election Committee shall exercise its competence independently and impartially in order to ensure free, just and fair elections in accordance with the principles of liberal multi-party democracy.

The functions as the Members of the National Election Committee are incompatible with the positions in the civil service and the function as the members of other institutions as stipulated in the present Constitution. The member of the National Election Committee cannot be the member of a political party or as president of a non-governmental organization, association, trade unions or any commercial company.

The National Election Committee shall have an autonomous budget for its operation.

Article 151 new (two)

The National Election Committee is composed of nine Members whose mandate is five years. Four members shall be selected by the political party leading the Royal Government; four shall be selected by the political parties not associated with the Royal Government having seats in the National Assembly, and the other member shall be selected with the consent of all political parties having seats in the National Assembly.

The Permanent Committee of the National Assembly shall organize an open and transparent selection of the members of the National Election Committee and shall prepare the list of the composition of the National Election Committee to submit to the National Assembly for the vote of confidence by an absolute majority of all the Members of the National Assembly.

Members of the National Election Committee shall be appointed by Royal Decree.

In case any Member of the National Election Committee loses its membership, the Permanent Committee of the National Assembly shall proceed to select the new member within the period of 15 days at the latest from the date of the loss of the membership. Detailed procedures to select a substitute member shall be determined by a separate law.

In case of failure to obtain the composition of the National Election Committee, the existing Members of the National Election Committee shall remain in office and shall have competence to organize the election in accordance with the law.

The organization and the functioning of the National Election Committee shall be determined by law.

CHAPTER XVI NEW (TWO)
ON THE EFFECT, THE REVISION AND
THE AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION

Article 152 new-two (former Article 150 new)

The present Constitution is the supreme law of the Kingdom of Cambodia.

All the laws and decisions of all state institutions must be in absolute conformity with the Constitution.

Article 153 new-two (former Article 151 new)

The initiative of the revision or the amendment of the Constitution is the right of the King, of the Prime Minister and of the President of the National Assembly on the proposal from one-fourth of all the National Assembly's Members.

The revision or the amendment of the Constitution must be carried out by a constitutional law adopted by the National Assembly at the two-third majority of all its Members.

Article 154 new-two (former Article 152 new)

The revision or the amendment of the Constitution is prohibited when the nation is in a state of emergency, as provided in the Article 86.

Article 155 new-two (former Article 153 new)

The revision or the amendment of the Constitution cannot be allowed, if it affects the liberal multi-party democracy system and the regime of the constitutional monarchy.

CHAPTER XVII NEW
ON THE TRANSITIONAL PROVISIONS

Article 156 new-two (former Article 154 new)

The present Constitution, once adopted, shall be promulgated by the King of Cambodia with immediate effect.

Article 157 new-two (former Article 155 new)

After the present Constitution comes into force, the Constituent Assembly becomes the National Assembly.

The Rules of Procedure of the National Assembly shall come into force after their adoption by the National Assembly.

In case the National Assembly cannot take its function, the President, the First and the Second Vice-Presidents of the Constituent Assembly fulfill their mission within the Crown Council, if so required by the situation of the country.

Article 158 new-two (former Article 156 new)

After the present Constitution comes into force, the King is elected under the conditions provided for in the Articles 13 new and 14.

Article 159 new-two (former Article 157 new)

The duration of the first legislature of the Senate is five years and comes to an end when the new Senate assumes office.

For the first legislature of the Senate:

- the total number of Senators shall be sixty-one,
- the King shall appoint two Senators, as well as the President and the two Vice-Presidents of the Senate,

- the other Senators shall be appointed by the King among the members of the political parties having their seats at the National Assembly, on the proposal from the President of the National Assembly and the President of the Senate,
- the Congress of the National Assembly and the Senate shall be held under the chairmanship of the Co-Presidents.

Article 160 new-two (former Article 158 new)

PROMULGATE

The additional Constitutional Law aiming to ensure the regular functioning of the national institutions, adopted by the National Assembly on July 08, 2004 in the 1st plenary session of its 3rd legislature and reviewed and approved by the Senate on July 12, 2004 in the 9th plenary session of its 1st legislature, and the details of which are as follows:

ADDITIONAL CONSTITUTIONAL LAW
AIMING TO ENSURE THE REGULAR FUNCTIONING OF THE NATIONAL INSTITUTIONS

Article 1.

This constitutional law aims at ensuring, under all circumstances, the good functioning of the national institutions while respecting the basic principles of a liberal multi-party democracy, according to the state of necessity.

Article 2.

At the beginning of each legislature, the National Assembly under the presidency of its most senior member, before starting its works and after the validation of each member's mandate, can proceed to adopt the texts of constitutional or legislative nature within the objective stipulated in the aforementioned Article 1.

After their adoption by the National Assembly, the most senior member must immediately take cognizance of these texts in accordance with the procedure reserved for them, until their promulgation and coming into force.

Article 3 new (one)

In the event that the procedures stipulated in the Articles 82 new (one) and 119 new (two) of the Constitution cannot be implemented, the National Assembly, on the proposal of the party having the majority of the seats in the National Assembly, can proceed with the package vote to elect its President and its Vice-Presidents as well as the Chairpersons and Vice-Chairpersons of the Commissions, and at the same time to grant the confidence to the Royal Government.

Article 4 new (one)

The elaboration of the composition lists of candidates for the elections and for the vote of confidence shall be organized as follows:

- The list of the candidates for President, Vice-President of the National Assembly, as well as of those for Chairman and Vice-Chairman of specialized Commissions, must be prepared and proposed by the political party with the most seats in the National Assembly, then sent to the most senior member of the National Assembly. The President of the National Assembly is chosen from among its members who have only one Khmer nationality.

- On the proposal of the political party with the most seats in the National Assembly, the King assigns a high-ranking personality as Prime Minister to form the Royal Government. The high-ranking personality appointed as Prime Minister must be a Member of the National Assembly holding only one Khmer nationality and be chosen from the party with the most seats in the National Assembly. This assigned high-ranking personality prepares the attribution of the different ministerial posts within the Royal Government, then sends the list of all its members to the most senior member of the National Assembly.

- The most senior member of the National Assembly shall immediately and without delay prepare these lists and put them into one package list, comprising the candidates for the President and Vice-President of the National Assembly as well as Chairman and Vice-Chairman of all specialized Commissions of the National Assembly as well as the position of the Prime Minister that is appointed by the King and all members of the Royal Government, in order to submit it to the vote of the National Assembly. The most senior member of the National Assembly will chair the National Assembly's meeting to adopt the list immediately.

- The most senior member of the National Assembly shall be chosen as the National Assembly's most senior member from among all members of the National Assembly. In case this most senior member of the National Assembly cannot fulfill his/her roles, the position of this most senior member shall be entrusted to other National Assembly members who are the next most senior down in age.

Article 5.

No debate is possible during the proceedings of the package vote, neither any explanation is possible after the proclamation of this vote result.

The National Assembly's Members vote in favor of or against this single list, proposed by its most senior member. The vote is done by a show of hands.

Article 6 new of the Additional Constitutional Law

The package vote shall be done at the absolute majority of all the National Assembly's Members.

In case the vote at the first ballot is not decisive, the same procedure shall apply to the following ballots.

Article 7.

This Additional Constitutional Law is declared to be urgent and comes into force right from the beginning of the present legislature.
